Between the years 1902 and 1913 the Grand Lodge of New York published a series of Lodge Histories in its Annual Proceedings. The first series was written by R.'W.'. Peter Ross and R.'W.'. Edwin A. Quick, Grand Historians. In the past few years, we have been fortunate to have these histories uploaded to the internet by Google.com as follows:

DR. PETER ROSS OF NEW YORK. R. W. PETER Ross, Treasurer of Scotia Lodge, No. 634, and Grand Historian of the Grand Lodge, died at his home, No. 62 West Sixty-sixth Street, on Monday morning, June 2, 1902, of nervous prostration brought on by overwork. The death of Bro. Ross is a loss to the Masonic fraternity that will be sorely felt.

THE LITERARY WORK OF DR. PETER ROSS.

[The following sketch appeared a few years ago in The Home Journal]

In that interesting and well-written work Scotland and the Scots: Essays Illustrative of Scottish Life, History, and Character, we read: "In journalism we find the Scot in the foremost ranks. The New York Herald was founded by James Gordon Bennett, a native of Aberdeen. Whitelaw Reid, the editor of the New York Tribune, is of immediate Scotch descent. William Swinton has had a stirring and changeful career as a newspaper correspondent, editor, and man of letters. Thomas C. Latta, of the Brooklyn Times, a native of Fifeshire, is perhaps better known as a song writer than a journalist, but his long connection with the press warrants his being mentioned here. Col. McClure, the best known journalist in Philadelphia, claims Scottish descent. George Brown, of the Toronto Globe, was a native of Edinburgh; and the founder of the Montreal Witness, Mr. John Dougall, was a native of Paisley. The Guelph Mercury was owned and edited for nearly a quarter of a century by George Pirie, a native of Aberdeen, and a lyrical poet of much ability. Daniel Morrison, a native of Inverness, did much good service as a journalist on such papers as the Toronto Leader and the New York Tribune."

Many other notable names might appropriately be added to this list of distinguished Scottish-American litterateurs, and perhaps none more deservedly than that of the author of the book from which we have just made the quotation — Dr. Peter Ross, who for over twenty-five years has successfully laboured in the literary field as journalist and author. To-day he is what is known as a special contributor on several of our great daily and weekly newspapers, besides being a writer for the Westminster Review and one or two other British publications.

Dr. Ross is a native of Inverness, Scotland, having been born there on the 11th of January, 1847. A few years later his parents removed to Edinburgh, and here in due time the boy began his educational studies.

As soon as his school days were over, or at the age of fourteen, he became apprenticed to Miles Macphail, the once famous Established Church publisher in Edinburgh. After leaving Macphail's establishment, Dr. Ross was employed in various stores in Edinburgh and Glasgow, and had already accomplished some excellent literary work. He contributed a history of Edinburgh to the Midlothian Advertiser, and several clever articles from his pen appeared in the Edinburgh Evening Courant, the Caledonian Mercury, the Glasgow Mail, &c.

In 1870 he edited the Poetical Works of Sir William Alexander, in three large volumes, and in 1871 he compiled and published The Songs of Scotland, Chronologically Arranged, with Memoirs and Notes. This work had a very extensive sale from the first, and a number of editions were rapidly disposed of. A new edition with preface, &c., has just been issued by the enterprising Scottish publisher, Mr. Alexander Gardner, of Paisley, and the press in general has accorded it a very hearty welcome in its new form. It has long since been classed as a standard on the subject, and it is to be found in every public and prominent library in the British Empire. Besides brief memoirs of the authors, it contains a great amount of historical and antiquarian information, which is of the highest value, not only to the student, but to every one interested in any way in the song literature of Scotland.

Dr. Ross was married at Perth in 1872 to Miss Mary Dryerre, an accomplished and highly intelligent young lady, and sister of the well-known Perthshire poet and correspondent, Henry Dryerre of Blairgowrie. In the fall of 1873, and under the impression that the United States afforded better opportunities for advancement in a literary career, he took up his residence in New York city. Here he at once identified himself with the press, and ere long became a recognised authority on matters relating to Great Britain, and especially to Scotland. He also took an active part in Scottish society matters, and for many years past he has been unanimously elected secretary of the North American Caledonian Association, the Grand Lodge, so to speak, of the Caledonian clubs of the United States and Canada.

In 1886 he published his first American work, A Lite of Saint Andrew, and very appropriately dedicated it to John S. Kennedy, Esq., then President of the St. Andrew's Society of the State of New York. This was a peculiar work, and soon commanded attention from prominent Scotsmen in all parts of America. It treats of St. Andrew from his early years, describes his missionary work in detail as far as is known, tells about his closing years, how he became the patron Saint for Scotland, &c. But the most interesting chapter in the book to the writer is the one entitled "Saint Andrew among the Poets." This chapter contains some really excellent poetry on the subject of Saint Andrew, and great credit is due to Dr. Ross for having brought so much of it together and in so convenient a form.

The chapter ends very appropriately with a poem that first appeared in the Christian at Work, entitled "Twa Scots."
 No author's name is attached to the poem, and as it has been quoted far and wide it will no doubt interest many people to know that Dr. Ross himself is the author of it.
 The three last verses are particularly fine, while the composition taken altogether proves that the author possesses a poetic faculty, a gift which he ought to cultivate much more than he evidently does at present.

TWA SCOTS.

Twa youthfu' Scots cam' ower the sea
 Frae where the Spey first meets the ocean,
 To try and win Dame Fortune's smiles
 In rustic toil or trade's commotion.

They loved their hame, its hills and dales,
 Wi' grand historic lore attendant,
 But lack o' gear gaed little hope
 That bidin', they'd be independent.

By wild Lake Erie's rugged shore
 They settled, and wi' sturdy toil
 They clear'd a farm frae brush and root,
 And glean'd gear frae the virgin soil.

And twa miles south there lay a toun
 Where centred a' the county's treasure;
 And soon in it they had some trade,
 Their craps to sell, their corn to measure.

Their lassies syne frae Scotland cam'.
 And settled down in comfort wi' them,
 And weel-stocked houses crown'd the farm
 And couthy bairns were born to them.

As years roll'd on their interests lay
 Alike at stake in farm an' toun;
 And wealth cam' flowin' in apace,
 And blythesome ilka day wore roun'.

Ane owned a railroad, ane a mine,
 Ane had a mill and ane a quarry,
 And as their hands grew fu', their bairns
 Took part and hain'd them frae the worry.

Ane built a kirk, and fee'd it fair;
 Ane built the puir, the sick, the lame

A snug and bien like restin' place,
 And call'd it a Saint Andrew's Hame.

And to the puir at hame, some wealth
 They freely sent baith spring and simmer,
 And mony a frail man blessed their names,
 And for their peace pray'd mony a kimmer.

Sae passed their lives content and pure,
 Aye winnin' love through bein' kindly,
 And helpin' ithers up the brae
 They ance had clamb sae sair and blindly.

And when at last their time did come,
 And baith to their lang hame were carried,
 The neighbours a' for mony miles
 Foregathered roun' where they were buried.

And o'er their graves is ae braid stane
 Which haps their clay frae weat and wind;
 And at the foot are carved these lines,
 Neath where their names are intertwined:

"God rest them! Now their work is o'er;
 On their fair fame there's ne'er a blot,
 They acted well their several parts
 And loved to help a brither Scot.

"For this was aye their hamely creed —
 Ilk Scotsman is a Scotsman's brither; —
 And whiles wi' glee they sung a sang,
 Some auld stave learned on hills o' heather.

"They did whate'er they thought was right,
 And shared alike earth's glee and sorrow;
 And when life's work was done and past,
 They won the peace which comes — to-morrow. "

Dr. Ross's next contribution to Scottish-American literature was Scotland and the Scot, the work from which we made our opening extract. Too much praise cannot be bestowed on this work, as it is one of high literary merit; and such men as Professor John Stuart Blackie, Rev. Dr. Charles Rogers, and Rev. Dr. William M. Taylor have referred to it in very flattering terms.

Dr. Ross is at present engaged on the manuscripts of some other works, the most important one being A History of Scottish Literature. This work has cost him several years of close study and research, and two years ago he accumulated considerable special information for it while on a visit to Scotland. It is not a mere history of Scottish poetry, but a complete history of Scottish literature, embracing all branches from the earliest period down to the present day. It is well advanced towards completion, and when published, from what the writer has seen of it, the student and others interested in the subject will, like him, be gratified at the evidence it presents to Scotland's literary wealth in all departments.

It is almost unnecessary to say that Dr. Ross is a great admirer of the national poet, Robert Burns, and that he has written some very fine articles in connection with the poet and his times. A few of these articles have been reprinted in such works as Highland Mary, Burnsiana, &c. He is also an enthusiastic Freemason, having been originally initiated into the Thistle and Rose Lodge, Glasgow. On his arrival in New York he joined Scotia Lodge, and has held many of its offices, in particular that of master for two years and treasurer for several years. In his recent visit to Scotland he was elected an honorary member of Canongate Kilwinning Lodge, No. 2, Edinburgh — the Lodge, by the way, of which Robert Burns was crowned poet laureate, and of this honour he is justly proud.

Apart from the books which Dr. Ross has published, he is the author of a number of interesting lectures which have been delivered in the best possible style by Mr. Charles H. Govan, the well-known elocutionist, before large audiences in New York, Brooklyn, Boston, and other large cities. These lectures are on various subjects, such as "Burns in the Highlands," "A Night with Sir Walter Scott," "The Great Scottish-American Author, Washington Irving," "Old Edinburgh," "A Run Through Scotland," &c. They are well written and form a very delightful and instructive evening's entertainment. We might say considerably more in connection with Dr. Ross and his literary abilities, but we presume we have said sufficient for the time being. We would simply add, by way of conclusion, that he is a warmhearted, whole-souled man, and a patriotic American citizen.

Such men as he are a credit to the country, and help in their own way to sustain the respect in which the United States is held abroad.

R.' W.'. EDWIN A. QUICK, Historian of the Grand Lodge, and Past Master of York Lodge, No. 197, died at Yonkers, October 19, 1913. BRO. QUICK was born in 1841, in Rhinebeck, NY (the son of an architect), where he received an academic education. He entered his father's office at the age of eighteen. For a number of years he was actively engaged in building operations in New York City; among the buildings which were erected at that time under his supervision were the Equitable Life Insurance Building, which recently burned; the Staats-Zeitung Building, which stood where the Municipal Building has been erected; and the old Booths' Theatre, which stood at the corner of Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street. He removed to Yonkers about forty years ago, and designed a number of the oldest residences and business buildings of the city, among them being the Warburton Building, the new Yonkers City Hall, Public Library, Day- spring Presbyterian Church, Westchester Trust Co., Yonkers Savings Bank Building, the Yonkers National Bank, library and president's residence for Colgate University and High School at Hamilton, N. Y. BRO. QUICK served the City of Yonkers in the Board of Aldermen, representing the Third Ward in 1885, 1886, 1890 and 1891. He was a prominent member, and took an active interest in the work of many organizations. He had served as Master and Historian of York Lodge, 197, F.&A.M., New York City; High Priest of Terrace City Chapter, No. 177, R.A.M., Yonkers; Master of Phoenix Council, No. 77, R.&S.M., Mount Vernon; Treasurer of Yonkers Commandery, No. 47, Knights Templar. He was a charter member of Supreme Council, M.O.V.P.E.R.; honorary member of Rising Star Lodge, No. 450, F.&A.M., Yonkers; Hamilton Lodge, No. 120, F. & A. M., Hamilton; Hopewell Lodge, No. 596, F. & A. M., New York; Axim Grotto, No. 7, M.O.V.P.E.R., New York; member of Adelpic Council, No. 7, R. & S. M., New York; Mokanna Grotto, No. 1, M.O.V.P.E.R., Hamilton, NY; Fraternal Union, Anointed High Priests, New York; Oriental Order Palm and Shell, SANDS; Masonic Historical Society, New York; Masonic Veterans' Association of Yonkers; Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, Thirty-second Valley, of New York; Masonic Club, of New York City; Veterans' Association of the Fifth New York City Club; Hollywood Inn. and Chamber of Commerce, Yonkers. Also a life member of the American Canoe Association. He was a member of the Board of Directors of the People's Savings Bank and the Yonkers National Bank. His funeral obsequies were held in the Elks Building, of Yonkers, on Tuesday, October 21, and were largely attended by the Brethren of that city and from the City of New York, the Past Masters of York Lodge, No. 197, acting as honorary pall-bearers. The Lodge ritual for the Burial of the Dead was most feelingly rendered by W.'. JOSIAH A. WESTERVELT, a Past Master of York Lodge. The REV. ROBERT RAGNELL, pastor of the Janes Memorial Church, of Brooklyn, Chaplain and Past Master of York Lodge, delivered the following eulogy:

"In the death of our Brother, York Lodge has sustained a loss which cannot be recovered. We shall miss our Brother sorely. His good fellowship, his glad right hand, his smile for everyone, was one of the attractions of our Lodge meetings. He lived some distance away; but, until feebleness overtook him, his attendance at the Lodge meetings was constant. He was modest in his work; but was always glad when the Master came to him and asked him to do something for the benefit of the Lodge. There are many who are now sorrowing for his death to whom he extended a helping hand and gave a new start in life. I doubt if there is any other Lodge in the Fraternity, certainly not in this Jurisdiction, which can show its records in such completeness as in our Lodge, and this was due to the painstaking care of our Brother. In the days to come his work will be regarded as more and more important. He filled a great place among us. "As a member of the Fraternity I extend to his family our deepest sympathy. Your loss is greater than ours. Let the knowledge of his life and character bring us more together, so that their lessons may not be lost, and that we may be ready for the summons when it comes to our own doors."

MARIA JANET KING, (Lester Theodore,6 Artemas,5 Theodore,4 Capt. Joseph,3 James,2 William,1), born in Suffield, CT, 17 Jul 1857; married 13 Oct 1893, Edwin A. Quick, who is with Clark, Dodge & Co., bankers, Wall street, New York City. Mrs. Quick, like her brother, Mr. Albert Lester King, of whom we have above written, is also an accomplished musician. She possesses a rich soprano voice of remarkable compass and power that denotes care and culture and she uses it judiciously and with effect. She sang with her brother in the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, New York City, frequently called the "Rockefeller Church" (Mr. John D. Rockefeller was chairman of the Music Committee at that time). Her position was solo soprano and her brother was solo tenor. The choir was conceded to be the finest in New York. Frequently Mrs. Quick's voice has been compared to that of the great dramatic soprano Mme. Lilli Lehman. Mrs. Quick was never in robust health and for several years has not accepted yearly engagements, though she retains her glorious voice and occasionally appears in concert and church work and is deeply interested in the art of singing.

Being recognized as an authority on tone production, she is frequently consulted and gives vocal instruction. With a voice of exceptional purity and sweetness and as strong as it is rich her experience as solo soprano has been of the best. For three years she was solo soprano in Christ Church, Hartford, Conn., in Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, New York City, two years, in Central Congregational Church of Brooklyn, one year, and in the Summerfield M. E. Church, Brooklyn three years. Socially, also, Mrs. Quick is a charming woman. No issue. Residence, Brooklyn, NY.

R.'W.'. Bro. Quick was succeeded in office by OSSIAN LANG, who reported in the 1914 GL Proceedings, page 242:

REPORT OF THE GRAND HISTORIAN.

R.' W.'. OSSIAN LANG, Grand Historian, presented the following report, which was received and its recommendation adopted:
 M.' W.'. CHARLES SMITH, Grand Master of Masons in the State of New York.

Most Worshipful and Dear Brother: Deeply appreciative of your great kindness in honoring me, on December 16, 1913, with the appointment of Grand Historian, I have endeavored to meet the duties of the office as developed by the able and painstaking labors of my predecessors. I have tried to keep in mind, particularly, that I was merely filling out the term of R.' W.'. EDWIN A. QUICK, and to carry to completion, as far as my ability might permit, the task he had mapped out for himself.

Those who have read the annual contributions of the Brother whose death we all lament, cannot but recognize with gratitude what a vast amount of loving service he has rendered to the Grand Lodge. My wish was to emulate his good example, but the brief space of time at my disposal, together with unforeseen difficulties altogether beyond my control, made it impossible to submit to you, at this time, the amount of historical material which the Craft in this State has been led to expect from the annual contributions of the Grand Historian in the past.

My request to you and the Grand Lodge is, therefore, that the Lodge histories be omitted from the volume of Proceedings for 1914. After all, my dear Grand Master, you have been, yourself, the Grand Historian of the year. You have made history. Your firm and unwavering faith in the Craft and the force of your personality have worked miracles. The Sinking Fund inaugurated by you and carried beyond the two-hundred-thousand-dollar mark, has made the year one of the most memorable of the whole history of the Grand Lodge, and the record of it will make the volume of Proceedings of the one hundred and thirty-third Annual Communication one of rare historical value, thanks to the magnificent service rendered to the Craft by your untiring and resourceful energy in the cause of practical Freemasonry.

Respectfully submitted,
 OSSIAN LANG, Grand Historian.

Regretfully, so ended an era and the further organized appearance of Lodge Histories in the Proceedings of Grand Lodge . . .

Below is a listing of these interesting histories in a Table Format, which may be cut, pasted & sorted.

There were, of course, many other Lodges in the State of New York, some with the same numbers or names, in other periods of the History of the Grand Lodge, especially for the 'Country Lodges' and prior to the Morgan Period, a listing of which had been appended separately for your reference, as a sortable Table, to this present listing. The actual 'genealogy' of these Lodge is really quite complex, the Lodges having moved their meeting places, names and numbers over the years, some having gone extinct and others reviving. For now this interesting aspect of them will have to be ferreted out from their individual histories, where available. Someday it may be possible to record this in a 'genealogy program' and following their migrations over the years. Many records and histories of these Lodges have been lost to us through the ravages of war, time, fires and other unfortunate happenstances. There are yet lurking in attics and the archives of the Grand Lodge, local Lodges, and historical societies & libraries, stories yet to told . . . some of which are emerging on the internet regularly, such as at our website at www.omdhs.syracuseasons.com, and for northeast New York State at www.qmhs.org . . .

COMMONWEALTH LODGE #409 F. & A. M
 Brooklyn Standard Union, 9 June 1918

The Commonwealth Lodge was established on the broad principals of love, charity and benevolence, and as the name signifies, "the common good or happiness." Application was granted in May 1856, endorsed and strongly recommended by Joppa Lodge, No. 201. The first meetings were held in the Old Mechanics Bank building, Court & Montague streets. In July 15 Brother Monroe F. GALE was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason. The first death was July 20, Robert B. TURNER.

The lodge was one of the founders of the Brooklyn Masonic Guild, organized to build the Brooklyn Masonic Temple.

The charter members were:

McCHESNEY, Robert D. - Master (died 7 Sep 1881)
 PRICE, Benjamin - Senior Warden
 FULLER, James M. - Jr Warden (died 25 Jan 1891)
 HERMANCE, J.W. - Deacon
 HERMANCE, Charles F.
 WEBB, Frank - Deacon
 AMMERMAN, John D.
